

CELESTIAL realm

Angel expert Tina Marie Bertoli answers your questions with angelic advice. Email your question or issue to prediction@predictionmagazine.com

ANGEL ANSWERS...

Angel school

Q I was inspired to teach parents how to teach their children about angels. I know that children are so open and intuitive and sometimes, as they get older, they shut down... but I believe that by introducing angels to children at a very young age, it can enhance their guidance and intuition.

Angels seem to be an easy way for me to teach my children about spirituality (my children are very young). I have written a workshop about this which was definitely guided by angels. I do still have a few things to add, and so I am wondering what is the most important thing that a parent should know and keep in mind when teaching a child about angels? What is the best way for me to get this workshop out there?

Teresa, email

A What an important question and issue, Teresa, thank you for sending it to us. The angels are so powerfully around you to help you in every last detail of not only this workshop, but in getting this message out there through you. They also say that they have been a part of this creation process from the beginning and you've been the perfect channel to speak and work through. And they've practiced with you through your own children.

It is so important that all children grow up and have a clear and open perspective of the angels, as they can see them in ways that many adults cannot. So listening to their stories and experiences is part of the process. And teaching them about who the angels are – Divine 'friends' in spirit that guide them throughout their lives giving them support, direction, protection and love so they know they are never alone.

The most important message is to believe in themselves, and the magic that is within each and every one of them, just like the stories of Harry Potter! They need to know they have everything within them to manifest their deepest desires. And to respect and love one another, honouring the paths of all other people, too.

Don't worry about how to get the workshop out there. Let the angels take care of that. Just begin offering the class first in the local community, get flyers out, post it on your website, newsletters, everywhere you can! Tell everyone about it so they share it, too. And the angels will bring both parents and children to you!

Abundance issues

Q I do healing work for a living. How will I create the shift to security and abundance in my life?
Jennifer, email

A There is some old energy around lack and limitation that stems from childhood. I see patterns of feeling 'less than,' or 'not enough.' I also see that your body temple is malnourished so energetically and physically you're depleted. By focusing on your physical body, eating more salads and vegetables and training your mind through meditation and prayer to see yourself as successful, powerful and more than enough, you will begin to create new energy in your life.

Your body is a vehicle to express love, but can't properly do so if it's toxic with bad food and negative thoughts. You are on track to create your own business and so maintaining a healthy body, mind and spirit is going to help you attract better circumstances, people and situations, as well as the money to support you. This is a key ingredient to your feeling more centred, refreshed, intuitive so you can attract more clients, students and prosperity! Believe in yourself and lean into your angels as they guide you through every moment.

Should I change my job?

Q Should I go for a different position doing something I'd rather be doing?
Linda, email

A I feel that you're current job isn't fulfilling you. The people that surround this work environment aren't the type to inspire you to lead a more loving and fulfilled life. And this is why you are feeling discontent. Do you know that you deserve to be happy? That it is your natural state of being?

When we are in any conflict due to our current choices, we need to re-evaluate things. It's a sign from the angels that a change is needed. But we have to be willing to trust and act on those intuitive hints that we are receiving. This job helped you up until now financially and in other ways. But does it make your heart sing? It's OK if it doesn't. The angels aren't asking you to quit your job overnight. They will help in the transition. They will do it over time so that you can comfortably make the changes that will support you along the way. Just start doing a little of what you love every day. Each one of us was designed to fulfill our deepest unlimited potential, and when we utilise our gifts and talents the Universe supports us in doing what we love because it is our birthright. So trust in the angels and know that changes are on the way.

Open my chakras

Q How do you open your heart and third eye to the angels?
Rebecca, email

A Energy flows wherever we place our attention. So by spending time every day focusing on your heart, third eye and other chakras, they begin to open. Call in the angels, thank them for further opening these centres, and your auric field will expand to receive high angelic vibrations. Then you can more clearly feel, hear, see and know your angels.

Sit in a comfortable position and breathe in slowly and deeply. Feel the angels surrounding you, particularly Archangels Michael (protection), Jophiel (beauty) and Raphael (healing). As they connect with you, visualise Raphael's healing green light opening up all of your chakras, particularly the heart and third eye. Bring your awareness into gratitude and give your fears, worries and doubts to Michael as he cleanses and protects you in white light. And then open your heart to feel Jophiel's pink energy enter and affirm, "I am open to receive the love, messages and guidance of my angels. It is safe for me to see and feel and I am grateful that communication with my angels is part of my every day experience." Do this for a few minutes every day to build that Divine connection and strengthen your intuitive muscles to enhance your entire life.

Email your angel questions to prediction@predictionmagazine.com. Visit tinamarie444.com for more info on our angel expert

Motherly love

Q How do I improve my relationship with my 14-year-old daughter? We don't argue necessarily, but it's like one of us has to have the last word.
Pamela, email

A Your daughter wants to be listened to and supported. Although teenagers can be a lot to handle, they are super sensitive. They are growing and developing, with their hormones in full effect, and they really don't know who they are. They will be irrational and dramatic. But if you need to have the last word, you will make it worse and build a wall between you. Then she won't want to confide in you because she will feel judged and attacked.

Listen with love, allow her to be where she is at and check yourself to see where you're coming from before you respond. Engage in activities with her that she would love - her favourite movie or restaurant - to strengthen your bond and help her feel that you have her back, no matter what. Then at night, meditate. Meditation is a great way to work energetically on the relationship, calling in her higher self and speaking to her from yours.

Remember on a soul level you agreed to incarnate together to learn from one another. By honoring this, know your buttons will be pushed, but see it as an opportunity for you to heal and grow together rather than apart.

